Dear Friends,

As we reflect on this past year, our hearts are full. None of the progress we have made would be possible without you—our generous supporters, advocates, and friends who continue to believe in our mission and walk alongside us in support.

In 2024–2025, we expanded access to care in powerful ways. With your support, we opened HHM Health in South Dallas, bringing affordable, high-quality healthcare to a long-overlooked medical desert. We launched CeCe’s Place inside Hope Cottage by Deep Ellum, where expectant mothers now receive prenatal care in a safe and supportive environment. And in Mesquite, we opened HHM Health Mesquite, continuing the legacy of the prior Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC), Mission East, delivering full-spectrum care to a growing community in need.

Thanks to our successful 340B pharmacy, we’re now filling over 150 prescriptions per day, offering life-changing medications at reduced costs. Even more importantly, the program generated $1,082,150 in revenue, all of which goes directly back into strengthening our service lines across HHM Health.

We also continued to invest in maternal and mental health. Our Centering Pregnancy program brought together two groups of new moms to learn, grow, and connect with one another—led by one of our certified nurse midwives, Eva Miller, whose story is featured in this year’s Impact Report. And our Behavioral Health program now includes a dedicated therapy room inside our Women’s Clinic and a play therapy space within our Pediatric Clinic making access to behavioral healthcare even more accessible.

Lastly, The Crystal Charity Ball selected HHM Health as one of its beneficiaries, awarding us funding to support our Pediatric Mobile Clinic, which will expand access to quality healthcare for children in underserved communities.

Your belief in our mission is what drives us forward. Thank you for giving so generously, for showing up, and for helping us bring hope and healing to every corner of our community.

The Care That Changed Everything

Yasmine's Story

When Yasmine first walked through the doors of HHM Health, she was expecting more than just her first child—she was hoping to find care, support, and understanding during one of the most transformative times of her life. What she discovered was something far greater.

"I've been coming here since I got pregnant," Yasmine shared. "I had Eva Miller as a provider, and I loved her. Every time I went to see her, it was like going to see a friend."

For Yasmine, this wasn't just about routine checkups or medical charts. It was about connection. In Eva, she found a provider who listened, comforted, and empowered her—someone who turned doctor's visits into moments of trust and warmth.

"It's not easy to have that kind of relationship with your provider," Yasmine said. "I just felt really comfortable talking to her about anything."

That comfort mattered. Before discovering HHM Health, Yasmine didn't go to the doctor at all. The healthcare system felt distant and unfamiliar—until HHM Health changed everything.

“Before coming to HHM Health, I didn't go to the doctor.”

"Coming to HHM Health was like the first time I was presented with a place like this," she said. "I think we're going to be coming here for many years."

Now a proud mother, Yasmine looks back on her journey with gratitude—not only for the care she received, but for the community she found.

Though her prenatal appointments have ended, the bond remains. "I'm so sad I'm not pregnant anymore because I'm not going to see her [Eva] anymore," she added with a laugh.

Yasmine's story is just one of thousands. At HHM Health, we believe that access to quality healthcare should feel like coming home—not just for expecting mothers, but for every individual who walks through our doors.

Thanks to your support, we continue to make stories like Yasmine's possible—where healthcare is not just about treatment, but about trust, dignity, and lifelong impact.

Eva Miller, Healthcare Hero

As highlighted in the previous patient story, HHM patient Yasmine shared glowing praise for one of our certified nurse midwives, Eva Miller. Eva, one of HHM Health's beloved certified nurse midwives, has been a nurse for 23 years—but she says the last two, spent at HHM Health, have been among the most meaningful.

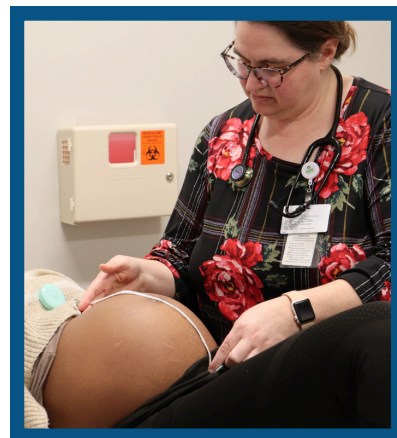

"I always wanted to work at a Federally Qualified Health Center," Eva shared. "So when the opportunity presented itself to work at HHM Health, I jumped at the chance. I always wanted to serve people who don't have access to great care, and I felt that that aligned with the mission of HHM Health."

From her first day, Eva felt the impact of her work—but one thing took her by surprise. "The diverse population," she said. "I knew it would be diverse, but I didn't know how diverse it would be! There are days I think to myself, 'I've spoken with people who speak eight different languages today—and I can only speak English!'"

Despite the language differences, she finds deep connection with patients through compassion, trust, and care.

For Eva, being a midwife isn't just a job—it's something she felt destined to do. "For as long as I can remember, I've wanted to be a midwife. I witnessed my first birth, kind of accidentally, at age 13, and I thought it was the coolest thing I'd ever seen—and it was a midwife who delivered the baby." That moment sparked a lifelong calling. And now, every day at HHM Health, she's living it out.

"I really feel like I'm on the medical mission field here, right in my own backyard," Eva said. "It's the patients who keep me coming to work every day." For the many families who turn to HHM Health in moments of vulnerability and hope, Eva is more than a healthcare provider—she's a source of strength, compassion, and unwavering dedication.

Healing Hands Luncheon

The Healing Hands Luncheon was held on March 26th at the Omni Dallas this year, co-chaired by Anne Besser and Courtney Joyner Gage. McKesson was honored with the Healthcare Innovator Award. And Barclay Berdan, CEO of Texas Health Resources, served as Honorary Chair.

WFAA anchor Chris Lawrence emceed the event featuring keynote speaker, Dr. Renaisa Anthony, a physician, public health practitioner, and champion for health equity, who spoke about women's health and equitable healthcare.

During the luncheon, Dr. Anthony shared, "My mom literally would show up in the ER with our school papers that you had to do before you went to school...We would sit all day because emergencies came first, which I understand. The ER is not built for preventative care." Dr. Anthony's message highlighted how HHM Health is a patient-focused, one-stop shop for healthcare.

Smart Philanthropy

Multiply Your Giving Impact

Supporting HHM Health is a powerful way to strengthen your community—and with planning, your generosity can go even further. Strategic, or planned, giving is a smart approach that allows people to make a bigger impact while potentially reducing their tax burden.

One powerful example is the Qualified Charitable Distribution (QCD). If you're age 70½ or older and have an IRA, you can direct up to $100,000 each year to charities like HHM Health—tax-free. Unlike a typical donation made by check, a QCD doesn't count as taxable income, which can reduce your overall tax liability.

Consider this real-world impact: A couple who normally gave $10,000 to HHM Health decided to use a Qualified Charitable Distribution instead of writing a check. The result? They saved over $2,000 in taxes—simply by changing the way they gave, not the amount.

Planned giving isn't just for large estates or seasoned investors. There are several accessible ways to give more efficiently:

- Donate appreciated stock
- Give stock that has increased in value instead of cash. You avoid capital gains tax and still receive a charitable deduction for the full market value.
- Include HHM Health in your estate plan
- Naming HHM Health in your will or trust costs nothing today but leaves a lasting legacy.
- Give through a business or asset sale
- Planning charitable gifts around the sale of a business or real estate can provide significant tax advantages and meaningful impact.
- Use a donor-advised fund (DAF)
- Contribute assets now, take an immediate tax deduction, and recommend grants to HHM Health over time.

Planned giving isn't just financially smart—it's mission-driven. With a little foresight and professional guidance, you can turn your generosity into long-term support for the vital care HHM Health provides. A small change in how you contribute can make a big difference.

Leaving a Lasting Legacy

Jane & John Waters

Jane and John Waters have been steadfast supporters of HHM Health for many years, with a relationship that reaches back to the earliest days of the organization. When HHM Health was still known as Healing Hands Ministries, Jane was the fifth staff member to join the team.

From the beginning, she brought a deep sense of purpose and commitment to the mission of providing compassionate healthcare to underserved communities.

Jane's dedication to the mission extended beyond the walls of the clinic. Living in the same community that HHM Health serves, she saw the organization's impact firsthand and believed deeply in its work. That belief is shared by her husband, John, and together they remain committed to helping HHM Health grow and thrive.

Jane and John have taken a meaningful step to ensure that their commitment endures. They have included HHM Health in their will, making a planned gift that will support the organization's future and help extend care to those who need it most. Their generosity will allow HHM Health to continue delivering high-quality, accessible healthcare for generations to come.

The legacy of Jane and John Waters is one of service, compassion, and lasting impact. Their story is a powerful example of how dedication and foresight can help sustain a mission and touch countless lives far into the future.

By including HHM Health in your estate plans, you can help ensure that quality, compassionate care remains available to those who need it most — today, tomorrow, and for years to come.
